Curtain of Trees (Getty Museum)

Fri, 14 Jun 2019 15:15:00 GMT

When Le Gray made Curtain of Trees around 1849, the chemistry of the photographic negative was not sensitive to the color green, so the foliage appears darker in the photograph than it would have in real life. On the other hand, the light sensitive chemicals were oversensitive to blue. Le Gray cleverly chose a time of day when the sun was lower in the sky (so there was less blue in the light ...
